

L.O. Develop my own ideas using the structure of a known text that uses shifts in time to show flashback.

'The Piano' Bare bones	My text ideas:
Opening introduces MC within setting. Present tense used. Something unusual happens (to 'hook' the reader)
Sequence of past events that reveal more about the MC. Each is linked to the previous. Sequenced in order (reverse, or alternatively, chronological)
 Possible brief return to the time frame of the opening (present tense), before continuing the sequence of past events

Return to time frame of the opening – present tense resumed as the original 'hook' event is continued
Events continue to bring the story to a close.	