

The sporting activities continue for the children at Emmaville!

Last Thursday, we took two teams of Year 5 children to a tag rugby tournament at Highfield Primary School. The children have been working with a rugby coach during their PE sessions, and this gave them the perfect opportunity to demonstrate the range of skills which they have been learning!

Both teams performed brilliantly, communicating effectively with each other and working together as a team to score try after try! Emmaville 1 were undefeated throughout the whole afternoon, which resulted in them being crowned winners of the tournament; they arrived back at school with big smiles on their faces, proudly displaying shining medals around their necks.

Well done Team Emmaville!

Miss McPherson and Mr Elliott.

Writers of the Month

Another difficult job again this month selecting 4 pieces of writing from the Writing of the Month Board. However, I have made my 4 selections and I am sure you will agree it is good to see how the children's writing has progressed from Reception aged pupils (James U - Newcastle) to Year 6 (Heather N - Rio).

This Year I...

I like reading books.

James U (Newcastle)

The sky is an astonishing blue backdrop on a glorious summer's day. A lighthouse standing tall and like a soldier protecting the ships from the sea as a soldier protects its country. The house as colourful as the rainbow. It sits on the grass as still as a statue. The crumbly, sizable rocks are staying still while it is getting invaded by the waves and taken away. The gentle waves are rising and the sea is calm. You can see beautiful views in the distance as the sea sways left to right.

Matthew B (Jerusalem)

The little mouse who got stuck under a rock

Once upon a time a brown mouse got stuck under a rock.

One day he shouted "HELP", luckily dog came and said "I can lift this rock" so he pulled but rock did not move.

So the dog asked the lama to help so lama and dog pulled but rock did not move.

Then the dog and lama asked the hare to help. So the dog, the lama and the hare pulled but the rock did not move.

Next the dog, the lama and the hare asked the shado to help and the shado said "I am the shado". And the hare said "I'll take that as a yes". So the dog, the lama, the hare and the shado pulled but the rock did not move.

Then they asked the strong man to help so they pulled. Finally the mouse was free so they had a party went home, had a bath, brushed their teeth and went to bed.

How to look after an Atlantihorse

If you are a person who likes to chill and relax then the Atlantihorse is for you.

Habitat

An Atlantihorse's habitat is in the deep seas of the Atlantic Ocean, so you will need to get a fish tank that is very deep and wide. The ideal size is 10m x 27m. Make sure that you clean the tank every 6 weeks or buy an oxygen pump that filters the water.

Diet

The Atlantihorse has a peculiar diet. It is a pescetarian which means that it only eats fish and vegetables. However, this incredible animal is extremely allergic to brussel sprouts and cabbage. If you feed this to them it would be life-threatening! Therefore, it struggles when consuming it's Christmas dinner!

Exercise and Training

This creature needs exercise every day, but you don't have to do anything because they exercise in their own time. When they need to exercise they will simply just swim around their tank until tired. The Atlantihorse requires no training at all. They do not bite or hurt anyone but if they do, they should see a vet. This makes it the ideal pet for a busy working family.

Appearance

Atlantihorses have two heads and seven fins. They are a seahorse that changes colour. Whatever colour they are, determines the mood they are in:

- Green means they are sick
- Purple means they are scared or nervous
- Red means they are angry or annoyed
- Blue means they are upset
- Yellow means they are happy
- Black means they are really sick and could die
- Orange means they are too hot
- Pink means they are too cold

Habits

They have a habit of jumping out the water and their fish tank; therefore, you need to put a lid on the top of the tank. They also have a habit of not eating their food if they are overwhelmed with too much of it, so put the food in a little bit at a time.

I hope this guide helped you to look after your Atlantihorse. I would recommend buying two or more so they have a friend. Happy Atlantihorse, happy owner!

Gateshead School Sport Awards 2018

What an amazing evening we had on Tuesday at the Gateshead School Sport Partnership awards evening. Awards are open for schools within Gateshead to apply for, we applied for 2 awards and managed to bag both.

Emily M (Year 6) received an 'Excellence Award' for the 'Primary School Younger Sports Achiever' for her amazing achievements in judo - a result of thousands of hours of practice and travelling up and down the country to compete. Emily was also recognised for her commitment to the sport and for helping the younger members of Crawcrook Judo Club. Emily is currently 4th in England in her age group; we can't help but get a little bit excited about seeing her represent her country one day in the future. Her award was presented by Emily Sarsfield, the British No 1 Ski Cross Athlete, and Olympian.

Our second award went to Miss Emily Rochester, our very own school dance choreographer. Emily works incredibly hard throughout the year preparing dance routines for children to perform at 2 of Gateshead's key sports events; the cheerleading festival and the dance festival and also a dance for the opening ceremony at our amazing sports day. I'm sure you will all agree when you watch your children perform that Miss Rochester does an incredible job. Emily is so passionate about dance and this is reflected in the children's attitudes and performances. Miss Rochester, AKA Emmaville's 'dancing queen' received an award in the 'Inspiration' category as an 'Unsung Hero' and this is so well deserved. Her award was presented by Peter Bakare from the Great Britain's Volleyball team, an Olympian at the 2012 Olympic Games.

What a night for the Emily's... well done to both girls, we're very proud of you!

Mrs Priestley.
