Friday 22nd January

L.O:To identify a job I would like to do when I grow up and understand what I need to do to achieve it.

This week, we will be thinking about future careers and understanding what different skills are needed in different careers and how we can plan to achieve them.

1 minute challenge- How many different jobs can you think of?

You've got one minute to write down as many careers as you can think of.

Let's have a bit of fun!

Get up on your feet and we are going to have a game of 'Job Charades'.

If you've got someone in your house to play with, ask them to guess the jobs, if not why not just act some out anyway :)

Skills- Head Chef:

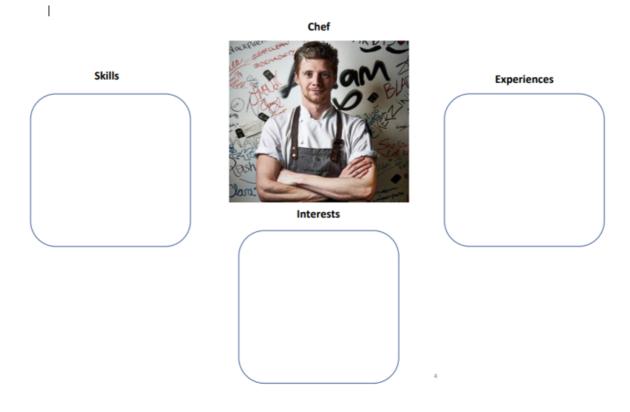

Watch this video (link on timetable) and write down the skills needed to be a 'Head Chef' and run a kitchen.

What experiences does he talk about and what other interests does he have (subjects)?

Complete the worksheet whilst listening to the video.

Remember you can always pause, or rewind to listen to parts again.

On a piece of paper, draw a picture of your dream job or any ideas you may have about your preferred future career.

Think about the skills that you might need for your chosen career. Complete some research and add the necessary skills around your illustration.

We cannot wait to see all your drawings and hear about your aspirations and future careers!

I.

It is always interesting to find out about our family members careers and the skills they need for their jobs. Ask your household members the following questions:

How did they arrive at doing the job they are currently working in?

What influenced their choices and decisions about the kind of job they have?

What particular skills and attributes do they think are important to have in order to do their job?
