

Yesterday, you wrote some brilliant recipe poems.

Recipe for a Teacher

Four big bags of kindness.
Three heaped spoons of happiness.
A pinch of merriment.
A dash of strictness (not too much!).
A hefty dollop of playfulness.
Two generous handfuls of useless facts.
A powerful voice, slightly worn.
A plentiful supply of jokes (preferably awful).
Two hundred incredibly long sighs.
Three spoonfuls of disbelieving stares.
A bag of kind words for when things look hopeless.
Three packs of tissues for sadness and sniffles.
Five thousand colourful pens to lose around school.

by Michael Plews

Today, we are going to be artistic and paint some pictures to go with our poems for a display to brighten our walls with some new work.

