Hinduism

LO: To understand the Hindu belief that there is one God with many different aspects.

I am a human

I am a man

I am a son

I am a brother

I am a volunteer

I am a good friend

I am an explorer

I am a giver

I am teacher

I am a guide

I am a thinker

Let's think about you:

- Who you are?
- What you mean to different people?
(daughter/son, sister/brother, Brownie/Scout, gymnast/climber, friend, pupil, grand-daughter/grandson.

---

In your books, complete the 'I am' statements.

You can see from your statements that there are different sides of you.

- Do you behave differently / have different roles in each situation?

- What is it that stays the same?

LO: To understand the Hindu belief that there is one God with many different aspects.

Remember, there is only one of you and whilst you are different things to different people, you are still you. All the different sides are part of the same you.

Can you write me a short paragraph explaining what makes you you? What is the essence of you? How do you know? How is this seen in the different aspects of you?
