

Michael Morpurgo

Sir Michael Morpurgo is one of Britain's most popular children's authors. During his career so far, he has written over 100 books and been awarded with a knighthood for his many achievements. As well as being a successful author, Morpurgo is a dedicated charity worker, family man and inspiration to both adults and children alike.

Early Life

Michael Morpurgo was born on 5th October 1943 in St Albans, Hertfordshire. When the Second World War broke out, Michael and his brother, Pieter, were evacuated to Northumberland to keep them safe from the Blitz. Once the war ended, Michael and his brother returned home to find that their mother had fallen in love with a man called Jack Morpurgo. She eventually divorced Michael's birth father and married Jack who then became Michael's stepfather.

Morpurgo attended two boarding schools before starting a very brief career in the Army. He enjoyed parts of army life but disliked being shouted at and so decided to leave and go to university instead. In 1963, Morpurgo married the love of his life, Clare Lane. Clare is the daughter of Allen Lane, the founder of the famous publishing house, Penguin Books (Penguin Books published large numbers of children's books). Clare and Michael went on to have three children together: Sebastian, Horatio and Rosalind. After university, Michael became a school teacher in Kent and particularly enjoyed reading stories to his class. However, when he ran out of stories to read to them, he decided to start writing his own! In 1974, Morpurgo wrote his first book entitled 'It Never Rains: Five Stories'. Morpurgo has reported that the years he spent teaching were some of the happiest of his life.

Charity

Ten years later, Michael Morpurgo wanted a change and so, he and his family moved to Devon. They bought a large house next to a farm and set-up the charity, Farms for City Children. Farms for City Children is a charity for disadvantaged children who live in cities and big towns. The charity gives them the opportunity to stay at one of the charity's three farms for a week. Children learn from hands-on experience learning about where their food comes from, how to care for animals and about working as part of a team. The charity is still running today and over 90 000 children have stayed at the farms since it began in 1976.

Books

Since writing 'It Never Rains', Morpurgo has written many more children's books and stories. The list of titles includes: Friend or Foe, War Horse, The Butterfly Lion, Kensuke's Kingdom, Private Peaceful and An Elephant in the Garden. War Horse is one of Morpurgo's most famous books and was made into a stage show in 2007 and then into a film in 2012 by director Steven Spielberg.

Achievements

Morpurgo enjoyed working with his neighbour and friend, poet Ted Hughes, and together they set-up the position of Children's Laureate in 1999. In 2003, Morpurgo was given the title himself, following on from Quentin Blake and Anne Fine. In 2007, Morpurgo was awarded with an OBE and then in 2018, he was given a knighthood in recognition of his services to literature and charity work. Despite all of this, Michael Morpurgo himself says that starting the Farms for City Children charity with his wife is still his greatest achievement.

Did You Know...?

Michael Morpurgo does not write his books sitting at a desk or on a computer. Instead, he prefers to write in an exercise book, lying on his bed propped up by pillows! Despite being a fan of Mozart, Morpurgo writes in a silent room as he finds the music distracting.
